It is often said that water is not necessary to life, "Water is simply life"

Water is also critical in manufacturing processes in any industry.

Water use in a production unit has been greatly reduced by cutting waste and by technological advances. The restrictions go beyond just saving the water they require for recycling in the circuits, fire service and extra cooling.

We have prepared four types of adsorbents that we used in a laboratory facility for the treatment of waste water from the cheese Boudouaou. The results are satisfactory.
