

Melding of Art & Science for Visual Communication

IVY HĀLI‘IMAILE ANDRADE¹ AND AUBREY
KE‘ALOHILANI MATSUURA²

¹University of Hawai‘i at Manoa

²University of Hawai‘i Maui College

Presenting Author: andrade@hawaii.edu

The Hawaiian way of being is a familial relationship with all that exists and works to cultivate and deepen that relationship. Artists and scientists express what they see, feel, learn, and communicate. This presentation will reimagine the reciprocal relationship between art and science.

Maile Andrade is a multi-media artist and has a Masters of Fine Art degree from the University of Hawai‘i-Mānoa. She presently is a Professor at Kamakakūalani Center for Hawaiian Studies at the University of Hawai‘i-Mānoa teaching in a Native Hawaiian Creative Expression Program. She has exhibited her works locally, nationally and internationally.

Aubrey Matsuura is an artist from the island of Maui who engages with multi-media art. She has a Masters of Education in Teaching from the University of Hawai‘i at Mānoa and is currently working under a Title III grant at the University of Hawai‘i Maui College. She has participated in local and international indigenous artist gatherings, and her work has primarily been with the community and in collaboration with other artists

